Supreme Grand Champion

Elk Point 4-H member, Robyn Danyluk stands proudly by her steer which was declared Supreme Grand Champion by the judges at the 1990 St. Paul District 4-H Inter-Club Achievement Day and Sale held Monday in St. Paul. Danyluk's steer fetched 1.80 a pound during the sale and was purchased by Elk Point Co-op, represented by Rodger McLaughlin. With them is Doug Durie, the judge who chose the winning steers. The trophy was sponsored by St. Paul District 4-H Council and the banner donated by Lakes Ranches Ltd.

Elk Point 4-Her shows interclub champion

For the second consecutive year, a first year member of the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club has shown the Grand Champion Steer at the St. Paul District 4-H Show and Sale.

Robyn Danyluk, whose 1245 pound Limousin steer was Reserve Champion in last Saturday's Elk Point 4-H Multi Club show, received that honor early Monday evening, when after one final round of inspection, Confirmation Judge Dave Durie declared her animal the winner. Marty Gottenbos of the St. Paul 4-H Multi Club showed the Reserve Grand Champion.

Miss Danyluk was presented with the St. Paul District 4-H Council trophy and the Lakes Ranches Ltd. banner for her win.

Jodi Vogel, who showed the Elk Point Club's 1195 pound Limousin Grand Champion, and Miss Danyluk were both among the excited group showing weight class winners in the Parade of Champions at the District Show on Monday evening. Both waited patiently, keeping their steers standing correctly and keeping a close watch on the judge during his careful deliberations. Having made one last round of inspection, he walked to the end of the lineup of prime beef cattle to shake the hand of the owner of the Grand Champion—Robyn Danyluk.

Miss Danyluk is a second generation member of the Elk Point 4-H. Her father, Ray, was one of the first members of the Elk Point 4-H Beef Club when it was formed in 1965, and while waiting for his own children to be old enough to take part in 4-H, has sold numerous calves to other 4-H members in the area. The Grand Champion sold to Elk Point Co-op for $1.80 per pound.

The 1989 District Show saw the first Interclub Grand Champion from Elk Point, a fine steer shown by David Naber. Miss Danyluk's win makes it two in a row for Elk Point—a tradition in the making!

Elk Point also was successful this year in winning the Pen of Five competition. Congratulations to a fine group of 4-Hers—keep up the good work!

Crop report

Moisture conditions as of May 31 were rated as dry in the Elk Point area, with rainfall badly needed. Hot, windy weather has sapped most of the earlier moisture from the soil, making growth prospects very poor.

Seeding of hard red spring wheat has been completed, with oats and barley about 75 percent seeded and canola 60 percent seeded, as of that date.

Participation 1990 a limited success

Participation 1990 in Elk Point enjoyed limited success, with only 400 out of 1400 residents calling to say they had taken part in a physical activity for the prescribed 15 minute time span. Those who did, however, had some impressive activities to report, all the way from 3-mile walks to a half hour in a Jolly Jumper. Residents jogged, weeded, mowed, gardened, stripped floors, golfed, played ball, took part in aerobics, biked, ran and skipped as their choice of heart-enhancing exercise on Wednesday, May 30.

A number of people enjoyed a free round of golf, courtesy of the Elk Point Golf and Country Club, or roamed the hiking trails at the recreation land.

Activities planned for the noon hour in the Co-op parking lot were shifted to the Community Services Centre Gym when a sudden shower—the first raindrops to fall in a number of days—chose that time to pour on Elk Point. The Elk Point Elementary Skipping Team made good use of their time at the new venue to put on an energetic performance, showing off their latest techniques to the small number of viewers. The shower must have scared off would-be entrants for the Book Race from the Co-op parking lot to the Elk Point Library, as no one turned out for that event. Also, no smelly footwear was turned in for the Stinky Sneaker Contest. The Participation Committee heartily thanks those who did take part in the day, and hopes you will each encourage a friend or two to join you at next year's events.

And Then There Was The Ball Game...

National Physical Activity Week also saw the third in a series of serious (?) slowpitch competitions between the Town of Elk Point and the Town of St. Paul, as the two rival towns fought to break the 1-1 tie from the previous years. Both teams came out hitting hard, but were so well matched that the score stood at 13-all after the planned 7 innings.

St. Paul started off the extra inning with 3 up to bat and 3 out. Elk Point's turn saw one runner get to second base before 3 others went down for the count. St. Paul took advantage of their next turns at bat to send three players around the diamond to take a 3 point lead, and had two others on base when their third out arrived. Steve Penz was first up to bat for Elk Point, and hit a nice fly ball—straight into a St. Paul glove. Tammy Jennissen was all the way to second base, and Deni Cameron on first and headed to second, when Robert Bepalko's fly ball was snagged in mid-air by St. Paul's Cameron Horner, to end the game and give St. Paul the victory.

The win was gladly accepted by the visiting team, and graciously conceded by their hosts, with no wheelbarrow trips or flying pies offered as retaliation for the outcome, as there had been in previous years. Some young fans were heard to grumble, "where's the pies?" but were quickly extinguished by the Elk Point team captain, who obviously had no wish for a whipped cream beard in addition to the defeat for his team.

In Our View

Seniors, farmers and environment

Today marks the midpoint of Senior Citizens' Week and Environment Week, and is just two days away from Farmers Day. To some, these commemorations may seem diverse, but in actual practice, at least in this community and others like it across the province, there is a definite relationship between the three.

Many of the senior citizens whose lifelong achievements we honor this week were part of the farming community. Both men and women hacked down brush and pulled stumps, picked rocks and roots, and sank their plows into the sod to change the wilderness into farmland. They persevered through drought and depression, fought grasshoppers and weeds, and stood helpless when hail devastated their crops. They rejoiced in the good years, and built up fine farms to hand on to their children. Many times they had to take off-farm employment to make enough money to keep the farm going, but this they did as a means of preserving their way of life. They built this country and this community, and left it in our hands for us to carry on the farming tradition.

Others of those who now are among the ranks of seniors served the community by establishing businesses, schools and a hospital to fill the needs of both the farmers and their town cousins. Their contribution, too, was invaluable, and has made Elk Point a progressive and active community.

Today's farmers continue the battle against nature, and deal with the added worries of high input costs and low commodity prices. All too often, in these trying times, farmers find themselves deep in the quicksand of debt with no one left out there to throw them a rope. Selling out and giving up all they have worked for years to achieve is sometimes their only way of survival.

"We'll start farming again, as soon as we work enough to give us a nest egg," they promise themselves. Farming isn't a job. It's their whole life.

These days, farmers are even being forced to battle with environmentalists. Their cows are producing methane to harm the ozone layer. Their pesticides and herbicides are polluting the water. Their livestock odors are drifting into towns and annoying those who would rather smell the flowers. Flowers are all very well, but do they produce food? The farmers do, enough food to feed all those not fortunate enough to live where they can produce their own, and those who would not care to do so in any case.

Today's seniors were environmentalists from away back. They lived by the creed of "Use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without." In lean times and in the pioneer days when new items were not readily available, they had little choice. For many, it became such an ingrained habit that they cannot imagine doing otherwise than saving, recycling and preventing waste. "Waste not, want not" was another watchword of their time, and one to which many people of the older generation still adhere.

Salutations to our seniors. May they enjoy their special week, and may their wisdom live long in all our hearts.

A good, green week to the environmentalists. May their efforts to keep us from burying our civilization in needless waste be successful.

And to the farmers, we wish gentle rains to slake the thirsty earth, warm sun to encourage the crops, and rising commodity prices to keep them in business.

Have a good week, whichever category you fit in.

Alberta Trails

History on other trails

By Irene Magnusson

So what do our school teachers do, when they have wearied of expounding wisdom into reluctant heads, of keeping classroom order, of assigning homework and correcting indecipherable offerings; when they have handed in their last report, their last attendance sheet, repeated the last canons of conduct, maxims of math, golden rules of grammar, standards of spelling, formulas of philosophy and all the rules of the three R's, ad infinitum, for that very last time?

Why, they retire of course. And in retirement, when all else fails - they go on tours. At least, some do - or should I say - some did?

I was fortunate enough to travel along, with some others who were not teachers, to make up the bus load when numbers of retired teachers were insufficient. In blind faith I went, having no idea of the vast amount of knowledge we would be exposed to as we rambled on.

Thirty eight passengers, plus one driver assembled on the bright green morning of May 27, from points as diverse as Cold Lake, Bonnyville, St. Paul, Vermilion and, of course, Elk Point, to take off on a four day journey into Saskatchewan, and the past. We were to SEE the history so many of us merely read about.

From Elk Point, we drove eastward, past Lindbergh, skirting Heinsburg, on past Tullibee Lake; here we picked up Edgar Maplettoft, tour guide, who regaled us with numerous tales of the past century as developed along the Sask-Alta border, and particularly as it involved the Metis uprising of 1885.

Our first stop, Fort Pitt, now a broad green sidehill, with a fenced area, marked with a plaque, is really a huge communal gravesite, burial grounds of many Cree and Metis in the last century. On a nearby hillside is a huge Hutterite farm. Below, girded by a strip of aspen forest, runs the murky North Saskatchewan River.

Our guide supplied countless tales of the battle fought here, and some information on the reasons why. After a half hour or so, we went on. Onion Lake, which we had already passed, acquired its name, so our guide informed us, from an island in the lake which had copious growth of wild onions. It is also an Indian reservation, with some 2000 inhabitants.

Our guide led us to a private home, which offers tourist accommodations, in the line of bed-and-breakfast, and here we were well fed, a delicious meal, served indoors and out. In addition, the family runs a feedlot and grain operation, and has done experimental livestock work in a lab on the farm.

In this area the land is partly treed, rolling, with many sloughs or ponds, floating ducks and other birds. Further off are the hills, undulating down to the North Saskatchewan. We see horses here and there, in the pastures.

Frenchman Butte boasts, among other things, a museum and an old-days-type Country Store. Here, in its dusky, crowded aisles, we searched for pins and film and souvenirs, before going along to the museum to view the relics of the past preserved there. Outside, below the painted sign, was a small covered wagon, complete with spring seat.

I was struck by the miles on miles of golden prairie bean decorating the waysides and hillsides we passed. For a plant as poisonous as the 'buffalo bean' is said to be, there must be enough out there to poison the whole population - humans and cattle - yet we never hear of a fatality from them (possibly because we so seldom eat the roadside flowers) and no doubt the taste puts livestock off it. They certainly lend a touch of sunshine, in any weather, to our travel for these few weeks of May and June.

We stopped briefly, to disembark and walk through the woods to glimpse the many 'rifle pits' dug for the protection of the warring factions. (I never became sure who had made them - the Metis or the army). There seemed to be dozens of them, holes about the size of a cot, still three or four feet deep, slowly filling with growth and rubble, trees growing all around. We were told there had been only very light scrub brush, if any, when the pits were dug.

At Paradise Hill we viewed the interior of a church decorated by Berthold Imhoff, the famous artist. This Roman Catholic church, built in 1929, used until 1974, is maintained for the viewers of the work of Imhoff. The walls, pulpit area, even the ceiling, is covered with pictures and ornamentations of a most elaborate degree, religious in the extreme.

On to the town's Senior Centre, where we were served snacks and a brief summary of gold panning along the North Saskatchewan River in years past, in this area particularly. Here our guide left us.

We boarded the bus for the three hour run into Prince Albert, a lovely city draped along both sides of the North Saskatchewan River spanned by several bridges, one named the Diefenbaker Bridge, for our first night away from home.

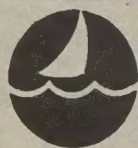

On the morning a guide again accompanied us, as we inspected the city. Famous for its penitentiary, which we circled, and the home of former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker (which we later visited), Prince Albert has many other attractions, one of which is a totem pole, standing tall in a riverside park - said to have been made by a B. C. prisoner while in the penitentiary, and donated to the city.

Besides the RCMP Museum and Old Schoolhouse Museum, which we visited, we toured many streets, past churches, schools, bridges and the Old Fire Hall Museum, where we shared coffee and a great view of the river and city. Later we parked the bus under some of the fantastically pruned trees (elm?) and took a walk through the Diefenbaker home, filled with his personal belongings, furniture, books, art...

Leaving after lunch, one of our stops en route to Saskatoon was at the cairn at Duck Lake, said to be the spot where the opening shot was fired which kicked off the rebellion of 1885. We were treated to a crossing of the South Saskatchewan River on the St. Laurent ferry, near here. Also near this cairn we saw tiny green flowers of a variety quite unknown to me. My photo may help me identify them, sometime.

Batoche has a large modern Interpretive Centre, housing a museum, with attendants, while beyond is the church and rectory of the early priest, also used as a school and, perhaps, orphanage. Still further on is the large cemetery, filled with the fallen of the Rebellion. In the Interpretive Centre, we were treated to a re-run of the war, and the thinking which activated it, as performed on a large screen, and with much computer and laser work. We learned, again, there are always excuses to start wars, but seldom valid reasons. Some walked on out to the cemetery, some returned to the Centre.

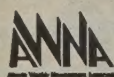

Soon it was time to be on our way, our destination Saskatoon, where again we spent the night in motel rooms, this time on a second storey level. We had used half our tour in pursuit of history. (More next week.)

Spiffed up beauties dazzle crowds

By Len Gagne
Staff Writer

There was more than enough shined up beauties to satisfy even the fussiest critics at this year's Elk Point Show n' Shine.

This was the club's third annual event and there was a definite variety of vehicles with everything from a Canadian made Bricklin, to a 1929 Essex and even a monster truck thrown in for good measure.

There was a total of 50 vehicles entered in this year's event and as club president Jim Andrishak explained, the show exceeded his original expectations.

"The show went great. We had over 500 people through the gates and 50 entries so it was well over what we expected."

A good percentage of the entries were right from the town of Elk Point, something that Andrishak feels his club plays a rather large role in.

"A lot of these cars are kept in garages and never really taken out so something like this show gives the people a chance to show off their cars and if they want to sell their cars, it gives them a chance to do that as well."

Andrishak was pleased with the variety of displays in this year's event but felt the final verdict rested on not his shoulders, but someone else's.

"As long as everybody who paid money at the door to see the show is happy, that's what counts."

Andrishak went on to add that although his club of 37 members tries not to take these shows too seriously, they are planning to take in other competitions this year as well as planning a cruise night for their club.

According to Andrishak, the show has grown considerably since the inaugural event three years ago in both numbers and participants.

Below is a complete list of this year's winners:

SHOW:

1st: Rob Reszel - 1979 Ford Monster Truck

2nd: Randy Gingera - 1963 Corvette

3rd: Dan St. Arnault - 1949 Mercury truck

1st: Gunther May - 1956 Oldsmobile 88

2nd: Joe Schmyr - Ford Model A

Echoes Of The Edsel Era

Little Deuce Coupe

This 1931 Model A Ford is owned by J. J. McCohm, Lloydminster.

Back When Trunks Were Trunks

This 1929 Essex was the oldest vehicle in the show, and featured a heavy metal trunk perched on its back bumper to carry tools and other necessities.

It's A Bird, It's A Plane...

It's a Bricklin, one of the 300 of these Canadian manufactured vehicles, and the proud owners are Ken and Holly As-till.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

In rural Alberta, the construction season means new projects and some major digging. And that can lead to major trouble if you come in contact with any buried facilities. Every year, rural Albertans using heavy machinery contact underground facilities. Such "hits" can result in serious damage, injury or even death.

Please, before you dig, call Alberta 1st Call at 1-800-242-3447. And remember, after buried facilities have been marked, it is your responsibility to expose these facilities by hand before using mechanical equipment.

Raiders Win Inaugural Tournament For New Ball Park

Elk Point's Video Point Raiders defeated Redwater to win the A Side of the Elk Point and District Lions Club Jan Frisby Memorial Tournament this weekend. The tournament was the first to be held on the three new shale infield diamonds which grace the Town of Elk Point Recreation Area. Diamond No. 1, shown above, has been dedicated by the Lions to the memory of Jan Frisby, an avid ballplayer and fan, who died of cancer several years ago. Jan's mother Jeannette Frisby (right) and her brother Chuck (left) present the Jan Frisby Memorial trophies to the winners.

Terminators Take B Side

The Terminators, consisting largely of members of the Frisby family, took home this year's B Side trophies from the Jan Frisby Memorial Tournament, following their win over the Kehewin Redwings in the final. Twelve teams took part in the two day tourney.

Premiere performance for choral society

The Elk Point and District Choral Society will present their premiere performance at the Elk Point United Church this Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m.. This is the first time the entire 33 member group has performed in public since their formation this past winter, although a part of the group entertained at Heritage Lodge during the Easter season. Their repertoire covers a range of various kinds of music, from show tunes to Negro spirituals, and will feature individual numbers by some of the singers as well as those by the whole group. Everyone is cordially invited to come out to hear this very special evening of music being offered by this enthusiastic group of vocalists. Admission is free.

Recycle your plastic milk containers

Recycle your plastic milk jugs by cutting them into strips and making labels for plants. These labels, which last for several years, are excellent to use in seed beds or with transplants. Use an indelible pen to record information such as variety and date planted. You'll even be saving money not having to buy labels; therefore being able to spend it on more seeds for a healthier environment.

Senior Citizens' Week 1990

The Honourable Roy Brassard, Minister Responsible for Seniors, today announced that June 3rd through 9th will be Alberta Senior Citizens Week 1990. "I'm pleased to announce that the province's fifth annual Senior Citizens Week is set for the first full week of June 1990," said Mr. Brassard. "This year our theme is Seniors: A Strength of Alberta and I hope that all Albertans will take this opportunity to celebrate the very real strength that our seniors bring to our families, our communities and our province as a whole," he explained. The week is spearheaded by the Seniors Advisory Council for Alberta. Mr. Tom Musgrove, MLA for Bow Valley and Chairman of the Council, outlined the objectives of the week. "Our three goals are: to recognize and honour senior citizens in Alberta, to highlight the positive contributions that seniors are making in their communities and to promote understanding and encourage positive attitudes toward seniors," he said. "Today's seniors shaped this province and made possible the quality of life we enjoy today," said Mr. Musgrove. "Communities across the province have organized special events such as open houses and teas," he explained. "We all realize how much seniors contribute to the lives of their families, friends and neighbours" said Mr. Brassard. "While Mr. Musgrove, Council members and I tour the province during the first week of June, we look forward to joining with Albertans of all ages in recognizing how our lives have been touched by Alberta's seniors."

Elk Point 4-H hosts 25th annual

Grand Champion Steer

Jodi Vogel showed the Grand Champion Steer at the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club Achievement Day, and was presented with the Elk Point Co-op trophy by Co-op Manager Rodger McLaughlin.

Reserve Champion Steer

Robyn Danyluk accepts the Reserve Championship trophy donated by Elk Point Meat Processors from District Agriculturalist Terry Holmgren, after her steer won the Reserve Championship for the club.

They Learned By Doing

Robyn Danyluk, winner of Junior Showmanship, Tim Havener, Junior Grooming, Jodi Vogel, Senior Grooming and Elena Drobot, Senior Showmanship, all followed the 4-H motto, "Learn To Do By Doing" to a successful conclusion this year.

The 25th Annual Achievement Day for the Elk Point 4-H Club was held Saturday, June 2, 1990, with a good number of former members and leaders among the crowd on hand to see the results of another year of "learning by doing" by the club's fifteen members.

This year, the show had a new location in the premises of E-Can Oilfield Services, whose owner Andrew Boddy gallantly offered the club accommodation for their show when an arena booking error left them with no suitable location. An appreciation award was presented to E-Can's Rob Matthews, who accepted it on Mr. Boddy's behalf, and noted the not-unpleasant change in atmosphere in the building, from crude oil to cattle. The building proved more than adequate for the show, once equipped with pen panelling loaned by Stewart Bintz and hauled in by Chris Havener and Albert Naber, sand donated and hauled in by BJ Trucking, shavings donated by Charlie McKenzie and hauled by Ed Bepalko and Victor Yushchynshyn, and the club's own show stalls. The latter were also refurbished, with the help of Pete Stafford, Ed Vogel and Chris Havener, and fronts repainted by Claire Ference.

The show got underway shortly before 7:00 p.m., with opening remarks from the mistress and master of ceremonies, Elena Drobot and Ray Hellquist. MLA John Drobot brought congratulations from the Province on the club's successful 25 years of operation. The club has had a total of 15 leaders, 32 assistant or project leaders, and 184 members throughout that time. Mr. Hellquist was the club's first leader, back in 1965-1967, with George Pinder following in 1967-68 and Albert Boratynec taking over the reins in 1968-69. Leaders since that time were Don Pinder (1969-71), Ronald Flanders (1971-75), Clifford Swedgan (1975-78), Pat Swedgan (1975-76, Heifer), Mary Nelson (1976-78 Heifer), Walter Ference (1978-83), Helen Havener (1983-85), Marie Yushchynshyn (1983-85 Heifer), Ed Vogel (1985-88), Ruth Vogel (1985-88), Joanne Bepalko (1988-90) and Jim Orr (1988-90). The member who was part of the club for the longest time was Dwayne Vogel with 9 years, while Leanne Drobot was a member for 8 years.

Livestock show judge Harvey Payne of Lloydminster and Woodworking judge Roger Yonelinas were introduced, as were ringmasters Albert Boratynec and Dwayne Vogel, and the members and leaders of the club.

Seven members, plus three future 4-H woodworkers, were involved in this year's Woodworking project under the leadership of George Oosterveld. Group I consists of first year members Carrie Piotrowski, Chris Melnyk and Clinton Povashuk, while Group II involves members with two or more years in woodworking: David Naber, Jeff Orr, Richard Piotrowski and Robert Vankosky. Future 4-H woodworkers are David Oosterveld, George Oosterveld Jr. and Steward Povashuk. This year's awards, which included gift certificates from St. Paul Co-op, went to Carrie Piotrowski and David Naber.

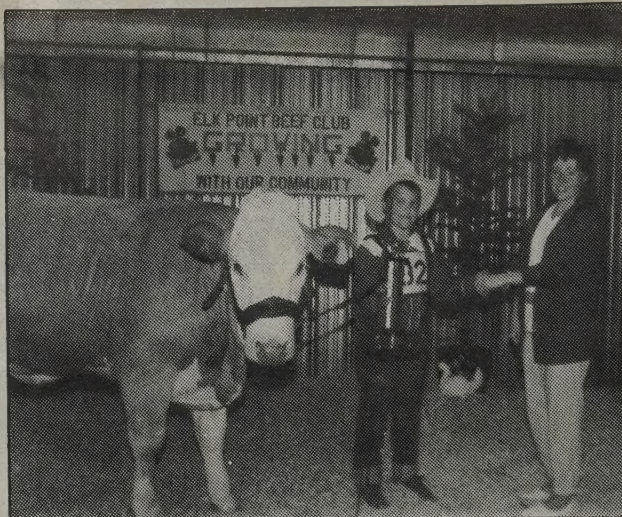

The Beef Show started with the judging of three steers by all the members, who were required to list the animals in order of their conformation, and give reasons for their choices. The Senior Judging trophy, from Banana Hill Farms, went to Shelley Bepalko, with Jodi Vogel as runner up, while the Junior Judging trophy from Phil's Hardware and Variety went to Carrie Piotrowski, with David Naber as runner up.

Junior members then brought their animals into the ring for judging of grooming and showmanship. The Junior Grooming award, from Gregg's Family Shopping Centre, went to Tim Havener, with Robyn Danyluk receiving the runner-up ribbon. Miss Danyluk went on to win the Junior Showmanship halter presented in memory of former member Clayton Orr, while David Yushchynshyn was runner up.

In the Senior division, Jodi Vogel took Grooming honors for the Elk Point Insurance and Realty trophy, while Michael Yushchynshyn was runner up. Elena Drobot was presented with the Clayton Orr Memorial halter for Senior Showmanship, with Michael Yushchynshyn again runner-up.

the grand and reserve championships. Jodi Vogel's 96 percent Limousin steer got the judge's nod as the most market-ready animal of the day, for the Elk Point Co-op Grand Championship trophy. Robyn Danyluk was presented with the Elk Point Meat Processors trophy for her Reserve Champion Limousin-cross steer.

The Heifer Class judging brought Tim Havener the Grand Championship for a handsome Simmental heifer. He was presented with the Terry Wozniak Turbo Bulk Sales trophy. Richard Piotrowski showed a full-blood Limousin heifer which was named the Reserve Champion, for the G & J Charolais trophy.

Shelley Bespalko received a trophy for the Best All Around 4-H Member, from the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club. This award was judged by the club's leaders.

Awards for project books and rate of gain will be presented at the club's year-end party.

Another presentation made at the show was in the form of a set of cattle clippers, which was presented to the entire club by Melanie Theriault, in memory of her late husband Norman, a former leader with the club.

Appreciation certificates were presented to all trophy and award donors, as well as to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Modin, who kindly check the project books throughout the year for the club.

All in attendance enjoyed a piece of the huge anniversary cake marking the 25 years of 4-H in Elk Point, as well as lunch kindly donated by UGG and Beranne Feeds, the Elk Point Hotel and Alberta Wheat Pool.

Top Woodworkers

David Naber topped Woodworking Group II with the projects he completed this year, while Carrie Piotrowski was the overall winner in Group I.

In Memoriam

In memory of Gordon McFadyen who passed away June 10, 1988.

The Golden Gates did open two years ago to-day.

With Good-byes left unspoken you gently slipped away.

Our hearts still ache with sadness and silent tears still flow.

For what it meant to lose you no one will ever know.

Always remembered & sadly missed. Barrie, Chris and family.

What's news at the library?

Two groups of children from Early Childhood Services were welcomed by the library staff on Wednesday, May 30 and Thursday, May 31. Librarian Doreen Mayner gave a tour of the library. The Walt Disney safety video I'm No Fool As A Pedestrian was shown to the children. The high-light of the visit for the children were two puppet shows, Go Away Dog and The Frog Prince.

In honor of Seniors' Week, June 3 to June 9, the library has on display materials that will interest this group.

Having problems with small print in books? Our large print section of books are your answer to more relaxing and enjoyable reading. Read a good mystery in large print by Agatha Christie or join master storyteller James Herriot in his travels as a vet.

Sit back and listen to our talking books. We have talking books for the visibility impaired readers from Alberta Culture Library Services. The library also has its own talking books that are available to everyone for their pleasure.

Interested in keeping in shape? Try out the video Fitness Over 50—a safe, field tested aerobic exercise program, or pick up the book Fitness For Life.

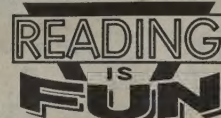

Here's a book which will put spring in your step when you read Dick Clark's Looking Great, Staying Young.

If you are planning ahead for a financially secure retirement, read The Best Is Yet To Come.

For the hobby or sports enthusiast, we have just the books for you! How about The Backyard Bird Watcher. If you've taken up the art of golf, come in and look at Golf Rules In Pictures and Beginner's Guide To Golf. For the fisherman or fisherwoman we have Fishing In The West and Game Fish Of North America How about a game of cards! Bridge Maxims secrets of better play or the book of Rules Of The Game. There are magazines to pick up new ideas!!! Outdoor Canada, Golf Digest or for the handy person, Workshop or Crafts.

Other books of subjects of interest to seniors: Count Out Cholesterol, Nutrition In The Middle And Later Years, Depression, Arthritis Commonsense, Asthma Handbook and Drugs And Aging.

Thanks to the "Class of '64" of the F. G. Miller High School, for the donation of two music cassettes, He Loves You and The Lighthouse. These are performed by the singing group HIS, of which our MP, Deborah Grey, is a member.

ENVIRONMENT WEEK PROCLAMATION

June 3 is the beginning of Environment Week, 1990. Our environment is something to appreciate and celebrate every day of the year, but once a year, through Environment Week, we pay special tribute to the beauty and richness of our unique Alberta landscapes and resources that are so important to us and to our children.

"Our Environment Needs You" has been chosen as the theme of Environment Week 1990. It is appropriate because every Albertan must share the responsibility for protecting the environment for future generations. This is our challenge as we enter a new decade of increased environmental awareness. I am confident that together we will meet the challenge because Albertans have a tradition of success based on resourcefulness and independence.

Environment Week will be celebrated across Canada during the week June 3-10, 1990. The Alberta program has been growing steadily, and this year it is hoped that more Albertans than ever will participate. Alberta Environment has been actively celebrating Environment Week since 1982. It is committed to achieving the protection, improvement and wise use of our environment now and into the 21st century. As we enter Environment Week 1990, we also enter a new era — one in which we all share the responsibility of caring for our environment.

Junior Drama Club struts their stuff

Elk Point's talented Junior Drama Club displayed the results of their year's work Friday night before an enthusiastic audience of families and friends, with their production of "A Play On Words."

The stage of the Community Services Centre was brightly set with a colorful backdrop of a small village in an enchanted forest, complete with a placid enchanted cow grazing in the meadow. As the scene opens, the cast of a school play, to include a milkmaid and her mother, a handsome prince, a shaky old man, a wicked witch and a fearsome dragon, are told by the Gym teacher, Mr. Witherspoon, that their Drama teacher, Mrs. Fairfax, has been taken ill on the very day of their big production, and that HE is taking her place.

Things go from bad to worse, as the witch can't find her false nose, the milkmaid hates her red clown wig, and the gym teacher doesn't have the faintest idea what's going on. However, dress rehearsal does get underway, with the prince, his feathered hat in place and his disdain of dragons impressing the villagers, winning the heart of the fair milkmaid. But then, alas, the witch and dragon appear on the scene, and as dragon and prince battle, the milkmaid trips on the dragon's tail and sprains her ankle. How will the show go on?

Simple—if a gym teacher can become a drama coach, he can also become a milkmaid...can't he? Fortunately, that is left to our imaginations, as that is when the curtain signalled the end of this delightful vignette.

Annie Klein starred as the milkmaid, with Tarina Cardinal as her handsome prince. Claudia Naber was the milkmaid's mother, with Brad Pankiw as the old man, Lara Huskins as the witch, Christine Penz as the dragon, and Randy Lett as the gym teacher. All are Grade 4 to 6 students at Elk Point Elementary School.

Presentations were made to Barbara Naber and Charlotte Lazicki, who have worked with the club throughout the year, for their most appreciated efforts.

Club organizer Dee Pankiw is hopeful that the club will start up again in the fall, and perhaps will have additional members for their future productions. She feels that this year's group showed a lot of enthusiasm, and had a considerable amount of fun in their involvement with the club.

Enchantment On Stage

A village in an enchanted forest, and all its inhabitants, from a milkmaid to a dragon, came to the Community Services Centre Friday night as the Junior Drama Club presented "A Play On Words."

joying many new titles. It is wonderful to see the community supporting and helping our students in their search for knowledge, especially in this, the International Year of Literacy.

Special thanks to the following:

FCSS, donation of fiction and nonfiction books of various topics; County of St. Paul #19, donation of Horizon Canada set; Royal Purple #269, $250.00 used to purchase fiction books and partial payment on a world globe; Mrs. Peggy Smereka, donation of National Geographics, 1970 to early 1980's; Mrs. Eunice Lyttle, donation of both fiction and nonfiction books of various topics; and Miss Christy Vinge, donation of teen fiction books. Also, thank you to all those people who donated one or two titles.

As well, a thank you to all the students who have helped to process the above books and have helped in the library this school year.

Take time out this summer to enjoy a good book. Happy reading!

Many thanks, F.G. Miller High

Alberta's New AGT

The Government of Alberta has proposed individual share ownership in Alberta Government Telephones.

What does it mean to Albertans?

Please read on:

Q Why the decision to offer shares in AGT?

A AGT must be able to adapt quickly because the world of telecommunications is changing so dramatically.

The Alberta Government believes the best answer for Alberta will be a new AGT. AGT also faces emerging technologies and opportunities beyond our borders, and competition is coming and coming fast.

As AGT prepares to face these realities, the company must make significant investments in its products, technologies and marketing: more than $2 billion over the next five years. This investment in a competitive industry should come from the private sector.

Q Why now?

A The decision makes good business sense now. A major shift in AGT has already started.

The company has always aimed to give Albertans in all areas of the province affordable and accessible telephone service. That mandate will be met when the Individual Line Service (ILS) program is completed in 1992.

Another new factor is the Supreme Court of Canada's ruling that AGT falls under federal jurisdiction and the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC).

New competitors of AGT will be applying to the CRTC to enter this market.

Q Will the Government retain some share in AGT?

A The Government is committed to private ownership and intends to sell all or almost all of its shares over the next few years as market conditions permit.

Q Will the Individual Line Service (ILS) and Extended Flat Rate Calling (EFRC) programs be affected?

A These services will be protected. In fact, AGT will be enhancing extended flat rate calling.

Q Will AGT remain an Alberta company?

A Yes. The proposed legislation is very explicit that two thirds of the Board members will live in Alberta. And although the Government will not be involved in the management and operations of AGT, it will have minority participation on the AGT Board.

Q Is there any danger of a foreign "takeover" of AGT?

A No. There is absolutely no danger. Foreign purchase of shares will be limited to a maximum of 10 per cent of the total voting shares.

Q How will AGT employees be affected?

A No AGT employees will be laid off as a result of this decision. Salaries, benefits and pensions will not be affected and all existing union contracts will be honoured.

A special share purchase plan is being developed for employees to encourage them to have a direct stake in the success of the company.

Q Where will the dollars go from the sale of AGT shares?

A A portion of the proceeds from the sale of AGT will be returned to the Heritage Fund for reinvestment and a portion will help reduce the province's debt.

But the purpose of this decision is not to generate immediate revenue, but rather, the long term strength of Alberta's telecommunications industry.

Q Will there be any preference for ordinary Albertans who want to buy shares?

A Absolutely. That is one of the key provisions of the Government's proposal.

Albertans can purchase shares on an instalment basis. Albertans will be given preferred access over other Canadians when buying shares.

Q Will our phone bills increase?

A The offering of AGT shares will have no significant impact on phone bills. Telephone rates in Canada are now in the process of being adjusted. Long distance rates are coming down, while local rates are moving upward. These changes are inevitable and are not the result of this initiative.

As a private sector company, AGT will become taxable, but under current corporate tax law, will only pay minimal taxes for several years.

Any increase in phone rates is subject to a public review process by the CRTC to ensure they are just and reasonable. The CRTC already regulates more than 70 per cent of Canadians' telephone services.

Q Can we count on the same levels of service from AGT?

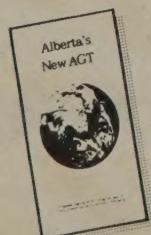

A AGT has a long history of providing excellent services to Albertans.

As an Alberta-based company with investment from Albertans, and with regulation by the CRTC, there will be assurances of consumer protection and continuing high levels of service.

Q Where and when will shares be available?

A The Government's intention is to have shares available soon after final approval of the legislation. Also, a prospectus must first be filed with Securities Commissions across Canada.

Subscription forms for shares will be easily available in every region in Alberta.
